

DAVID C.F. KOOP

David currently serves as the Chief Financial Officer and Business Manager for The Burish Group of UBS Financial Services Inc. where he is responsible for coordinating strategic planning, forecasting, budgeting and day to day operational management duties. The Burish Group has been consistently ranked by Barron's Magazine and the Financial Times as a top advisory practice in the United States. David graduated from the University of New Hampshire where he earned a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration & Finance while competing as an NCAA Division I athlete for the University's Alpine Ski Team all four years. After college, David consulted for a risk management firm where he and his grandfather, former U.S. Surgeon General C. Everett Koop worked together on health initiatives related to crisis management and disaster preparedness for businesses and institutions. Prior to joining UBS in 2008, David helped start-up SHRED Optics, an eye wear and helmet company founded by Ted Ligety (2x Olympic Gold Medalist and 5x World Champion Alpine Skier). From 2007 - 2008 David served as Vice President of SHRED where he was responsible for product development and distribution throughout North America. David Currently lives in Madison, WI where he and his wife, Sydney, have 2 children. David and Sydney both share the passion for ski racing, so in 2014 they created an alpine ski program which they run in the Madison area called Mad Alpine. Mad Alpine has grown significantly since it's inception and currently has about 60 athletes that compete from the local level all the way up to the national level, following the dreams that both David & Sydney once chased themselves.